COTTAGE HILL, MAY 6TH, 1858. To the Voters of New Hanover County:

As I do not desire to be a candidate for re-election as vour representative in the Senate in the next Legislature of North Carolina, I deem it proper, without further delay, to give you this information, in order that you may have ample time to select a suitable person to fill my place. In making this announcement, permit me to return my grateful acknowledgments to the peoof the county, for the favor and confidence with which I have been honored. You have never refused me anything in the way of public or political preferment which I have asked at your hands. For eight consecutive elec-Mills tions, you elected me to the office of High Sheriff of your county, mostly without opposition, and twice as your representative in the Senate in the Legislature, by an almost unanimous vote. These evidences of the esteem of my countrymen and neighbors, I shall always remember with a deep sense of gratitude.

The following is from the City Article of the Daily News, April 27:

"In most of the departments of the Stock Exchange increased confidence was observable. The principal stimulus arises from the solution of the recent uncertainty respecting the Indian loan and the budget, and from the extraordinary abundance of money. In a financial sense there is no check whatever to the market, and many persons are sanguine that the desire of the moneyed public for eligible interest bearing securities cannot be much longer restrained. The Bids for Treasury Notes.

The proposals for a five-million instalment of treasury notes, which had been advertised for, and which were opened yesterday by the Secretary of the Treasury, disclosed a very large offering. The biddings amounted to the enormous sum of $24,131,000; of which $4,595,000 was offered at rates of interest below five per cent., and $15,371,000 at the rate of five per cent., and $4,165,000 at rates exceeding that per-centage. The lowest rate of interest proposed for was 31/2. A very small amount

The great magnitude of this offering proves two facts -namely, that there is a very large amount of cash capital in the country for investment, and, second, the the credit of the government is unimpaired by its recent loans. We explained the other day the great improvement that had taken place in the commerce and business of the country, and how it was that the low condition ness of business. The biddings of yesterday prove that whatever may be the temporary wants of the Treasury for a time, the restored health and stability of the money affairs of the country will enable any demands of the treasury to be responded to by the mercantile class.
